ANOTHER WALK OVER.

The James Bay Boys Defeat the Vancouvers by a Score of 17 to 7 and an Inning.

The James Bay and Vancouver baseball team had splendid weather in which to play their match this morning. The crowd was much larger than that of yesterday but the game towards the end was simply monotonous, the James Bays just fooling with their opponents and trying to make as few runs for themselves as they possibly could. The teams played a good game during the first innings and showed that they could play ball when they wanted to. The Vancouver had a good battery in Chesley and Perkin but their fielding was miserable.

FIRST INNINGS.

Clarke came to the bat for Vancouver and managed to find the leather, stole second and scored on the error of Haynes and Franklin. Chesley also scored on the same error. Jackson then got down in the box and struck out Cowan, Perkin and Mallandaine in succession.

Wishart came to the bat for James Bay knocked a three-bagger and got home on Perkin's error. Jackson got a base on balls but was put out while stealing home. Franklin was put out by a fly and Hannan failed to get to first on a fly knocked by him to Mallandaine who made a pretty stop.

SECOND INNINGS.

Griffiths came to the bat for Vancouver but retired on three strikes as did also Madil. Johnson knocked a flier to Naylor who made a pretty stop but failed to get the leather to first in time, he was put out while sneaking home.

When the James Bay boys came to the bat in this innings it was evident that they had a "picnic," for both Gouge, Jackson, Franklin and Widdowson made base hits and Lorimer and Wishart made two base hits, they coming to the bat twice during the innings. Williams and Wishart made two base hits and Hannan and Gouge making three-baggers, all of which scored. Naylor was caught out on fly and Jackson and Hannan tipped the ball to the pitcher, trying to get out.

From this to the end of the game it was a regular farce, the James Bay boys setting on their bases, wearing their coats, and being put out as they said they could not get a game at Vancouver on the 1st of July. The James Bays reluctantly ran their score up to 17, the Vancouvers only getting 7, and they likely would have been kept down to 2, if Jackson had not left the box to give Gouge a little practice.

The following is the score by innings:

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
James Bay	1	13	0	0	1	0	0	2	-	17
Vancouver	2	0	0	0	1	1	3	0	-	7

The Manager of a Big Firm Skips With Lots of Boodle—A Small Schooner to Explore the Yukon River—The Usual Batch of Murders.

Fletcher Harper Dead.

NEW YORK, May 23.—Fletcher Harper, member of the firm of Harper and Brothers and son of Fletcher Harper, the youngest of the original four brothers, who established the well-known publishing house of that name, died after a lingering illness at his residence last evening. He was sixty years of age.

A Manager Skips Out.

NEW YORK, May 23.—A special to the Herald from St. Paul says: On board the night train which left St. Paul Tuesday evening over the Great Northern road, was Edward J. Cattell, the St. Paul manager of the brokerage house of Walker & Co., of Chicago. This morning's North-Western train from Chicago brought C. P. Walker, senior partner of the firm. Mr. Walker first went to the office of the firm in the Gilman block, and then to the Pinkerton Detective agency in the Union block. Soon after Walker's appearance, a rumor became current on the street, and in the clubs, that Cattell was short in his accounts and had run away. All sorts of stories were told and in some quarters it was stated that Cattell had misappropriated between $40,000 and $50,000. Walker seemed deeply troubled and refused to talk at all. At length he said "Cattell has gone away and we have a detective on his track. I have nothing to say as to his business. I have not had time to go over the books, and really don't know precisely how we stand. He has been a trusted manager of the firm for over six years." Having given detectives all the information he thought proper, Mr. Walker wrote notices for the evening papers announcing that the firm of Walker & Co. would not be responsible for the debts contracted by Edward K. Cattell. The last seen of him was on Tuesday evening at half past five, when he took dinner with a friend at the Minnesota Club, of which he was a member. He had been a general favorite in social and business circles. He regularly placed deals of P. H. Kelly, A. H. Wilder and others. He was often present at receptions in the first circles. He has wealthy relations in New York and Philadelphia, and at the time of his sudden departure he was engaged to a daughter of one of St. Paul's leading citizens. One of his acquaintances says he thinks Cattell has gone to Alaska as he had recently heard him express a strong desire to go there.

Off to Explore the Yukon.

PORT TOWNSEND, May 22.—The schooner Rambler arrived in port yesterday afternoon from up Sound and is now anchored off Quincy street wharf. This little schooner is of about twenty tons burden and is bound for Alaska on an exploring cruise. The Rambler started from Tacoma, and was built by Arthur Douglas, of Craftsbury, Vt., who came to the Sound intent on making the trip. She has a crew composed of the builder, Andrew Nelson, Thomas Anderson, Albert Osburn, Frank Graham and a young lady. It is intended to explore the Yukon, and the schooner is loaded with provisions for a year's cruise, together with goods, fancy novelties, etc., for trading with the natives, and a complete set of tools for mining.

Circus Train Wrecked.

NASHUA, May 23.—At 3 a. m. to-day Robbins circus en route to Epping where it was to exhibit to-day was wrecked near the junction of the Nashua and Rochester and Boston and Lowell railway. One car full of carriages jumped the track and the rest of the train was piled up in total wreck. The loss to Robbins will be heavy. The track is now being cleared.

The World's Fair.

PHOENIX, At., May 23.—Governor Wolfby has appointed H. H. Logan, of Phœnix, and W. L. Van Horn, of Flagstaff, alternate commissioners to the World's Fair. The people of Arizona are taking a lively interest in the fair, and the commission from the country is a very strong one.

Struck With Blindness.

NEW YORK, May 23.—Walter Webb, Vice President of the New York Central and Hudson River Railway, has been compelled to quit work on account of an affection of the eyes. A few days ago Webb was suddenly struck with blindness as he sat at his desk at the Grand Central depot. Physicians think that the trouble was caused by the bursting of a small blood vessel at the base of the brain.

A Cowardly Crime.

CATLETTSBURG, Ky., May 23.—Advices just received from the Mould Pigeon river, W. Va., give details of a most atrocious murder, which occurred there last Saturday. Jim Brewer shot and killed Ike Brewer, jr. The shooting was caused by the re-opening of an old feud. Late yesterday afternoon while Ike Brewer, jr., was sitting in his store, Jim Brewer came in and without a word of warning struck Ike a fearful blow with his Winchester rifle across the neck breaking it. After the already dying man, fell to the floor, Brewer put the muzzle of the rifle to his chin and fired, scattering the unfortunate man's brains in every direction. Brewer was arrested and is now confined in Logan county jail. Jim Brewer has gained considerable notoriety by being a leading character in the killing of Baisdes brothers three years ago. Ike Brewer, jr, was a cripple, being minus one leg.

SALE OF SEAL SKINS.

The Seized Catches of the Sealing Schooners Sold.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 21.—To-day United States Marshal O. F. Carter of Sitka, Alaska, sold at auction 2,468 seal skins, which arrived here a few days ago from Ounalaska. It will be remembered that a large number of skins were seized by the revenue cutter Rush in Behring's Sea last year from the vessels Black Diamond, Pathfinder, Onnlata, Minnie, J. G. Swan and Lillie. The skins were sold in schooner lots, six in all. Bidding was lively, and representatives from Seattle and Victoria were also in attendance. Almost the entire lot was purchased by the present lessees of the seal fisheries ground, the North American Commercial Company. The price of each skin averaged between $9 and $10, and the entire amount realized from the sale was $24,256.80.

A CRUEL MURDER.

An Old Man Enticed Into a Lonely Place and Shot.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., May 23.—Sheriff John A. May of Stone County, Missouri, has brought to Ozark jail for safe-keeping, Fletcher Kirby, a young man of Carroll County, Arkansas, who has confessed the murder of an old school teacher named Rodgers, whose body was found by two boys about a month ago. Kirby was arrested in Delta County, Texas, on May 17th. Kirby in his confession says the murder was planned by another man, whose name he gave to the sheriff. Rodgers, the old teacher, was persuaded to go with Kirby to Stone County to look for a location for a store, which Rodgers wanted to establish. When the two men reached Cow Creek and on a lonely road on the Missouri border, Kirby persuaded Rodgers to leave the main road and take a path leading through a deep ravine. Here Kirby shot Rodgers twice and took his money and watch. After robbing him Kirby says he thought of killing himself, but the dying man begged him to live and try and get forgiveness for his crime.

First Governor.

GUTHRIE, Ind., May 23.—Governor Steele, Oklahama's first governor arrived here last evening and was tendered an enthusiastic reception. The crowd at the station was enormous.

AT THE DRIVING PARK.

A Big Crowd Gathers at the Races—Fine Weather.

The races at the Driving Park attracted a big crowd this afternoon, the delightful weather bringing out ladies and children and others. It is of course impossible for the TIMES to give the full results of the day, but mention will be made of the first event.

This was a two mile bicycle race, and several good wheelmen were on the ground, but the entries were only four, as C. A. Godson rode a "racer" weighing only twenty pounds, and the other boys had ordinaries. On this account several refused to compete, and for a time it looked as if there would no race. However, three more entered, and a start was made. The first mile was done in four minutes twenty-five seconds, and the whole two miles in eight minutes and fifty-three and three-quarter seconds, which is very poor time on so good a track. The racers at the finish were placed as follows: First, C. A. Godson; second, W. A. McLean; third, C. H. Jones; fourth, H. Creech.

Mr. C. W. Minor, Capt. of the Island Wanderers, says he will race Godson's time, or will race Godson on an ordinary either two or five miles.

"Senator" Morgan, told a TIMES man after the race of this afternoon that he would give Godson 100 yards in a mile dash, or give him any race he likes for money, marbles, or fun, either one or one hundred miles.

It seems a pity that a more satisfactory race could not have been arranged but the local men do not care to run against a sure thing.

Opinion of the Press.

In reference to the prorogation of the Dominion Parliament, the Globe says: "So far as legislation and debates are concerned the session presents to the Canadian people a spectacle of restrictions reaching to its full fruition. Nothing has opened the eyes of the public so wide as the number and gravity of the scandals brought to light by the vigilant Opposition."

The Empire remarks: "The Canadian public affairs are in good hands and the country is prospering accordingly."

The Mail says: "What was not done is to be as much regretted as what was done. It is to be deplored for example, that the Northwest bill was slaughtered by throwing over this measure. The territories are disappointed and the agreement made with parliament as to the dual language is violated."

Novelist Howell's Home.

The Epoch says, William Dean Howells lives in a delightful apartment house on Commonwealth avenue, Boston. Mr. Howells is devoted to out-of-door rambles amid the pleasant suburbs, and to long walks through the crooked streets of the old part of the city. Mrs. Howells has great talent for painting, some of her pictures and drawings being exceedingly artistic in design and displaying rare taste in execution. Since the death of their eldest daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Howells live quite a retired life. A charming coterie, however, of personal and literary friends, have made Boston attractive and pleasant this winter for the novelist and his family.

The Mainland Association.

VANCOUVER, May 23.—There was a meeting of the Mainland Association in the Imperial Opera House last night. There was a large attendance. Mayor Brown, of New Westminster, was in the chair. Speeches were made by Brown, Tatlow, Thompson, of Burton Prairie, Orr, W. B. Townsend, McGeer and Cotton, advocating the principles of the association, which are the obtaining of fair representation for the whole Province immediately after the census is taken, and also opposition to monopolies in land or otherwise. A resolution endorsing these principles was moved and carried with enthusiasm.

The Quebec Scandal.

MONTREAL, May 23.—It now transpires that John P. Whelan, the contractor for Quebec court house has paid over $1,000,000 to the Mercier government in the last few years to issue contracts for government work, at least $40,000 of which Whelan says was blackmailed out of him. The government still owes Whelan $257,000.

THE DUKE OF CONNAUGHT.

His Eastward Journey—Departure From Vancouver—Enjoying the Scenery.

Special to the TIMES.]

VANCOUVER, May 23.—A special train composed of the private cars Metapedia and Saskatchewan, in charge of Conductor Unwin, and with the Royal party aboard drew out of Vancouver behind engine No. 385, at 8 o'clock this morning. Every preparation had been made for a fast run through. The crew were Conductor W. J. Unwin, Driver Bob Mee, Fireman W. Govit, Brakemen Stuart and Doig. The weather was delightful, but only a few citizens assembled at the station to speed the parting guests.

AGASSIZ, B. C., May 23.—H. R. H. the Duke of Connaugh bowed his farewells to Vancouver from the platform of the Metapedia as the train rolled out of the yard. The ladies of the party had not yet risen, nor did they make their appearance at breakfast until Hammond was left behind. With ensigns flying gaily the train departed from the terminus at 8:10 and flashed through Hastings three minutes later, running at the rate of 30 miles an hour. Port Moody was reached and No. 11 passed at 8:30. Then the speed was increased and as the royal special drew into Hammond a signal for special orders was displayed. At 9 His Royal Highness was on the platform as soon as the train was at a standstill, commenting upon the fine scenery and chatting with the driver. No further incidents transpired in the run to Agassiz which was made at 10:20.

YALE, B. C., May 23.—The increasing grandeur of the scenery brought every one aboard the royal special to the windows as Agassiz was left behind and the level strip of road to Hope was run at a mile a minute speed. The Fraser River Canyon was the especial admiration of the royal party, who manifested a lively interest in the changing scenes on the trip. The train reached Yale sharp on time at 11:20 o'clock.

NORTH BEND, May 23.—A brief stop was made at Yale by the Royal special and the Duke left the train and chatted with the crowd assembled at the station. As the train departed three hearty cheers were given and the Duke in acknowledgment bowed and remained upon the platform until the station was lost to sight. So much were their Highnesses delighted with the panorama of changing scenes presented after Yale was left behind that they gave special orders to the engineer to slow down in order that they might longer enjoy the picturesque canyon. Five miles an hour was the average made for some time and North Bend was not reached until almost 1 o'clock.

SPORTING NOTES.

Brief Resume of Sporting Matters Here and Elsewhere.

FOSTER AND SMITH.

The scientific glove contest of six runs, arranged to come off at the Victoria Theatre on Saturday night, between Prof. Foster, of Victoria, and the famous Paddy Smith, of the Occidental Club, San Francisco, has been postponed until Friday, June 6th, in order to give Foster more time to prepare for what he knows will be the hardest match he ever undertook, and he further wants four more rounds so that it will be ten rounds instead of six. Smith was telegraphed to-day asking if he would agree to the change and if he would have the stakes the same, $250 aside. Foster will go into active training for the match when Smith is heard from.

GOOD FOR DAN.

McLeod, the middle-weight wrestler who has been seeking a match with Joe Acton, writes to the San Francisco "Report" as follows:

To the Sporting Editor Daily Report—DEAR SIR: The report has reached me that prominent members of the Californian Athletic Club accuse me of being a faker and pretend that it would be infra dig for the so-called champion, Joe Acton to engage in a contest with me. Considering that the California Athletic Club have no money at stake on the contest, I have vainly endeavored to force upon Acton by posting my own money on the result and publicly challenging him to a contest. I do not think their objection founded on logical reasoning, unless it be that they suspect their own champion of being a faker. Judging by the recent exposure in regard to "greased wrestlers," perhaps their doubts are well founded. As for myself, I have never faked, nor have I ever been thrown. If I desired to make money in that dishonest way I could easily do it, as Quinn, the Jap, and nearly the whole fraternity have made proposals to that effect to me. These people will not wrestle me on my merits, because they know I can throw them, and it looks as if Acton were afraid to risk any money on the result of a square issue. The fact of the matter is, without assuming any other virtue than the desire to make money, I would be a fool to fake, for I have no fear of Acton or any of the men he has ever competed with. Feeling this confidence in myself and being ready at all times to back it up with my own money I think it unfair and ungenerous on the part of men who pride themselves on their love of fair play and who have wittingly or unwittingly paid a good deal of money to undoubted fakers, to borrow from me and stigmatize me with an appelation I do not deserve, and which they cannot prove by an actual test with their own champion, or any wrestler on earth.

DAN. S. MCLEOD, Olympic Club, San Francisco, May 16th, 1890.

MACLEOD AND ACTON.

Messrs. Gable and Watkins, of Nanaimo, have received dispatches from Dan McLeod in reference to a wrestling match between himself and Joe Acton. The dispatches stated that Acton refused to wrestle for $1,000 a side, so a wire was sent to say McLeod's backers in Nanaimo would make it $2,500. It is expected the match will be arranged successfully, and if so it will take place in Nanaimo, or not at all. Dan's friends in this city will hail his coming with delight and prove to him they have not lost their faith in his abilities.

NANAIMO SCORES AGAIN.

Mr. C. Williams' "Royal," lately owned by A. Cassel, was sent to Victoria last week for the purpose of running a race with the Victoria horse "Maude." A match was made and run yesterday for $150, and although the Victoria horse strenuously put forth every effort to win the race she was badly defeated by the superiority of the horse. Royal seems to be improving as he grows older, and it is the opinion of his owner that he will yet beat anything on the coast. The victory of yesterday scores another one for Nanaimo. Is there anything more we can oblige the capital with?—Free Press. Yes, vote for the Opposition.

The Strike at Wellington.

The condition of the trouble at Wellington still remains the same, says the Free Press, both employers and employees at present remaining quiet till Monday next, when Mr. A. Dunsmuir and Mrs. Dunsmuir are expected to return from Europe. After their arrival at the Capital a conference will be held. It will then be ascertained what their intentions are in regard to the future working of these mines. It is to be hoped, however, that the trouble will be amicably settled, and the mines allowed to run in their usual active course. There is only the steamer Costa Rica at the Bay awaiting a cargo of Wellington coal.

METHODIST CONFERENCE.

PROCEEDINGS ON WEDNESDAY AND THURSDAY.

A Superintendent of Missionary Operations Desired—The Educational Interests of the Methodist Church—Address to the Duke of Connaught.

[Special correspondence of the TIMES.]

VANCOUVER, May 20.—The Stationing Committee of the Methodist Conference met this afternoon in the committee rooms of the Homer Street Methodist Church, and during the entire afternoon wrestled with the knotty problems that present themselves annually for disentanglement.

This evening, the first of the public meetings was held, and addresses were delivered in the interest of Sabbath School work throughout the conference. The holding of several other meetings in the city at the same hour, particularly the political gathering, interfered somewhat with the attendance, but a fairly large number were present. Rev. Jos. Hall, President of the Conference, occupied the chair, and after conducting devotional exercises, and making some remarks, apropos the Sunday Schools, introduced the first speaker, Rev. M. J. Stevens, of Comox, spoke briefly. He said that human nature is two sided. Man is not only physical but also spiritual. He claimed that the spiritual side of the nature needs development' quite as much or even more than the physical. Children need to be trained and taught to think for themselves. Growing up without training, they become outsted in the struggle of life. Now, unless the spiritual side of their natures are trained they will be useful only from a worldly point of view. Children need to be fitted for moral usefulness, and this is the work of the Sunday School. While the mind is trained to calculate upon the profit and loss questions of earthly life, it also needs to be taught to comprehend the eternal systems of profit and loss, and prepared to reason for that account which every one must give. He then spoke to the children encouraging them in their attendance at Sunday School, and enlisting their sympathies in good things. Addressing the teachers, he said their work though often discouraging, was labor for the Master and they who sow in weeping shall bye and bye reap with joy. God, the moral governor, appreciates and rewards all labor that is put forth in His service. Exhorting them to fresh consecration to prayerful work, the speaker took his seat.

Bro. S. J. Thomas, of Richmond, next addressed the meeting. He presumed that every one here is a friend of Sunday schools and interested in that work. He expressed himself as being more interested in that branch of church work than any other. He thought that for this reason the committee had made a wise choice in putting him on the plan for this evening's work. He spoke of his early Sunday school training, and expressed a hearty interest in the success of Sunday schools everywhere. Confining his remarks strictly to the children he kept them interested in Bible stories and drew lessons therefrom to the immense amusement of his hearers. He said he learned from all these grand Bible stories to have a supreme reverence for God and truth and good. He learned in the Sunday School to reverence the Bible, and obey its precepts was to be made better here and prepared for bliss afterwards. He spoke of the important part taken by women in this work and said that right down to the end this grand work will enlist their sympathies. Quoting some astounding figures, he showed that sixteen and a half millions of scholars are being trained in the Sunday Schools of the world, and that everywhere this influence is working wonders for the evangelization of the world. America alone has fully one-half of the Sunday School workers and scholars of the world. About ten millions in America alone! Half a million children in the Methodist schools of Canada alone, and more than one-half of the scholars and teachers and workers in the Dominion of Canada are under the supervision of the Methodist church, and he thought this was a matter that ought to elicit the gratitude of every members of the Methodist Church. He spoke of the brief period covered by Sunday School work from its commencement, only 100 years ago, and showed the spreading of its influence. He proved also that largely the church membership of our country grows up out of the Sunday School, and church members who are brought in through the efforts of Sunday School workers are the members that stick. He referred them to some of the benefits accruing from Sunday schools: First, It is a missionary institute, planting itself in the degraded places of the large cities, making the religious services attractive with various incitements and so gathering them in one by one till large congregations were formed. Secondly: It is a preservative of the church, keeping it from decay. He pictured a ruined and delapidated church and showed it to be the result of neglected Sunday schools. Thirdly: The benefits of its associations. Boys must go somewhere, and they can go nowhere better than to Sunday school. He implored the members of the churches to give the Sunday school their countenance. He deplored the practice of staying home and snoring on Sunday afternoons. Far better to encourage the little ones to go and to go with them. Support the school financially too. Pray for it often and earnestly. Help the teacher with kind and encouraging words and in a thousand other ways. Speaking to the teachers he said the Methodist Conference and all its ministers are in hearty sympathy with every item of Sabbath school work. Though not often able to peep in and smile upon the school yet everywhere their prayers follow and their sympathies support the efforts put forth.

The meeting closed at 9:30.

VANCOUVER, May 21.—The conference gathered at 9 o'clock and proceeded to regular business, viz., the election of officers, etc., which appeared in your telegraphic report last evening. Rev. J. Hall, on retiring from the presidency, said. It affords me great pleasure to induct (?) you into the position I now vacate. As for himself he said his year had been as a president a very happy one. He felt grateful to have filled the position in which his brethren had honored him. He felt proud of the progress that had been made by the Methodist church since this conference has been organized. He assured the president elect of the hearty sympathy and good will of the entire brotherhood.

Rev. C. Bryant on taking the chair, said the uppermost feeling in his heart was a feeling of profound gratefulness to God, especially for the confidence of his brethren. Next to the favor of God he valued the esteem and confidence of his brethren. He had received many testimonials of esteem during his ministry, but he considered this the crowning one of all. He spoke of the difficulties encountered in the work of this missionary conference, and he hoped to feel during its sessions the guidance of God, and a truly Christian spirit in all its deliberations.

After the election of officers, Rev. C. Ladner rose and moved the following resolution: That the thanks of this conference be presented to the Ex-President, the Rev. Jos. Hall, for the kindness, fidelity and efficiency which have marked the discharge of his duties as president during the past year. Rev. J. Turner seconded, and the motion carried with a round of applause.

The nominating committee was then appointed, and the standing rules for the conference were adopted.

In answer to the question, "What probationers are now received into full connexion with the conference, and ordained?" the resolutions from the various districts were read and received, and the following names were voted: Walter W. Baer, Matthew J. Stevens and Robert J. Irwin, into full connexion; Geo. H. Morden, J. E. Gardiner and William D. Misener were continued on probation.

The sessions of the conference were fixed as follows: 8 to 12, 2 to 5.30 daily.

The conference then went into prayer meeting, which lasted an hour.

WEDNESDAY—AFTERNOON SESSION.

VANCOUVER, May 21.—The conference re-opened at 2 o'clock. After the devotional exercises the order of business at which the morning session adjourned was resumed.

The Rev. Mr. McLeod, of the Zion Presbyterian Church, was here introduced to the Conference and expressed his pleasure in meeting this branch of the Christian Church.

From the Port Simpson district, the recommendations that J. C. Spencer and R.B. Bedirs be continued on probation were adopted.

The following candidates were received on probation for the ministry of the Methodist Church: J. P. Hicks to be allowed his first year on completion of his course of study. The case of Mr. C. H. M. Sutherland was laid on the table till Mr. Sutherland be communicated with.

The report of the nominating committee was received and adopted.

Rev. Mr. Bromham, Baptist minister, was at this stage introduced to the Conference.

The most of the afternoon was taken up in hearing reports of various committees. The business of the Conference dragged slowly along and the plodding routine followed was tiresome to the visitors.

The order of business taken up at 11 o'clock was the continued relation of superannuated ministers.

Rev. Wm. Pollard was recommended to be continued in that relation.

None of our ministers cease to be recognized among us. None of our ministers or probationers have died during the year. In accordance with the usual custom a Hymn of praise was sung and Rev. T. W. Hall led the Conference in prayer.

Rev. R. B. Beairs, of the Port Simpson district, will be sent to college and assisted from the funds of the Education Society of our Conference.

The time for electing the representatives to the General Conference was, by the motion of the Conference, appointed for Friday evening, immediately after the regular reception service.

The following memorial from the Victoria District was received and referred to the proper committees.

"Whereas, it has come to the knowledge of this district meeting that at the last meeting of the Central Board of Missions, the basis adopted for estimating the salary of the Indian Missionarys within the bounds of the British Columbia Conference has been reduced in the cases of married men from $1000 to $950; Resolved, That the British Columbia Conference be recommended to take such action as will impress upon the Central Board the injustice which has been done our Indian Missionaries in comparison with the missionaries of other conferences by the action of said Central Board.

The following memorials from the Westminster District were referred to the proper committees:

"Resolved, That in view of the widely extended work of our Conference and of the impracticability of the chairmen of districts giving the attention to the opening of new fields, where religious destitution prevails which the exigencies of pioneer settlements present, and,

Whereas, Many of our stations being manned by ministerial brethren who are unordained and whose age and experience in our work may not sufficiently qualify them for maintaining and extending the varied and important interests of the church, especially upon isolated missions where they are in, many instances at a great distance from more experienced ministers, the benefit of whose advice might otherwise prove an advantage; and,

Whereas, The need of missionaries peculiarly adapted to the work of this Conference seems to require the attention of a minister specially appointed to the superintendence of missionary operations in this Province; and further, that such ministerial superintendent could also serve the interests of the Missionary Society by devoting a portion of his time to the scattered missions among the Indians extending as they do from the Fraser river to Alaska, including the Islands of Vancouver and Queen Charlotte; and,

Whereas, The designation of Rev. Jas. Woodsworth to a similar office in the M. & N. W. Conferences has proved such a signal success in opening new mission stations, and in obtaining men for them. We request the ensuing Conference to make due representation to the General Conference next September of the need which exists in Bri-

Columbia for a minister qualified by experience to do the work of a superintendent of missions, similar to that of Rev. James Woodsworth of the M. & N. W. Conference."

The report from the Port Simpson District in respect to the Boys' Industrial Home was read, received and referred to the committee on missions for its information.

The memorial from the Port Simpson District, to wit, that recommendations be made to the next General Conference that the constitution of the stationing committee be so amended as to comprise two lay and two clerical members of each District, in addition to the chairman of the District, was referred to the appropriate committee.

Various other resolutions and memorials from the various Districts were heard, but being of a purely local nature are not reported.

The Conference adjourned at the proper hour to meet again to-morrow at 9 a. m.

EVENING SESSION.

The large church on Homer street was comfortably filled this evening, the gathering being in the educational interests of the Methodists of this Province. The announcement that Rev. J. E. Starr was to speak attracted a goodly number, who were greatly disappointed when it was known that he was not in the city. The meeting was opened with singing and prayer, after which the President explained to the congregation the importance of the educational work of our church. He said the charge is sometime made against our church that it does not encourage education. This charge, however, has been oftenest made by men who were ignorant of our policy. He said the charge was based on the fact that the early preachers of Methodism were drawn from the classes where education was not too liberal. However, even these, men rose by their gentleness and kindness a power for good. The founders of Methodism were educated men and encouraged learning. He mentioned many of the names which had become famous in the history of Methodism and that by their learning. Some of the later Methodists are literary lights of learning. Dr. Dollinger, Dr. Moulton and others in Europe and America who have distinguished themselves by their great literary attainments.

He then called on the Rev. E. Robson, who gave a synopsis of the work and policy of our church, showing an increase in the receipts and expenditures that is very gratifying to the workers in this branch. The total number of students educated and studying in the Methodist Colleges and University during last year was 2109, the income of the society in 1889 was $19,658, a large increase on the contributions of former years. Three hundred thousand dollars are pledged to endow the new colleges at Toronto.

Rev. Jas. Calvert was then called on to address the meeting. He said he felt the weight of the subject. Would rather that some of the college bred ministers had taken the floor. Next to the great aim of Methodism, viz.: the spread of scriptural piety, its one great question is the education of the masses. He spoke of the zeal manifested by the Anti-federationists and Federationists alike is the placing our Methodism on a higher educational plane. Many of the great men of the age, said the speaker, had received their first secular and theological schools of Methodism, and he was glad to find that in that land of skepticism and atheism and ignorance, Japan, many of the great reformers of to-day were schooled in the Colleges of Methodism. The Methodist preachers are not open to the charge of illiteracy. They have the evidence of an education that is beyond the reach of our schools of art, etc. The disciples of Jesus were schooled in the grandest theological school of the world, and so most of the men growing up to this work in the Methodist Church are blessed with a moral training that makes them powerful instruments in the moralizing of the world. The last martyr that we have heard of was a graduate of our Victoria University (Rev. A. Large, in Japan), and we are prepared as a church to carry on just this sort of thing, and fill up the gaps that are caused by the hand of the assassin or the hand of God. And yet the institutions of our church, grand as they are, are improvable. The meeting this evening is to enlist the sympathy of his hearers in this work, until the colleges and universities of Methodism in Canada are the best in the land.

A hymn was then sung, and Mr. J. E. McMillan, of Victoria, was called upon to address the audience. He said he had not expected to be called on to address this meeting on the subject before us. He had not expected to be called on to do anything more than appear, bow, and disappear. But he felt keenly interested in the subject of education. The illiterate man cannot in this age expect to be anything more than a hewer of wood and drawer of water all his life. All young men need to fit themselves to keep pace with the age; and this is true of young men who are entering the sacred work of the ministry particularly. All possible help should be afforded them. The speaker showed what could be accomplished by dint of hard study. The colleges of Methodism, he said, had proved a great blessing to this country. In sending our boys to these colleges, it is with the feeling of the utmost confidence in the management of these institutions; a feeling of perfect repose that their interests will be well looked after. He spoke of the rising influence of Methodism in this respect, and retired amid a round of applause.

Rev. Jas. Turner of Revelstoke, then took the floor. He said that the educational interests of our church are of great importance, and it seemed to him that we have about reached a crisis. He spoke of the extremely difficult problem (college education) that the great minds of our church are soon to be called on to settle. But it was not with this question he had to do. He did not propose either to take the congregation over all the ground covered by our educational work. He proposed rather to speak upon the subject of ministerial education. Whatever the opinions may have been in the early days of pioneer work, the general impression in the minds of the people now is that if the pulpit is to keep its hold on the masses, it must keep the lips of knowledge. The days were when a college bred preacher was a failure, but a sweeping change has swept over our land. He said that he read recently upon good authority that the graduates of old Victoria (Cobourg college) are occupying the leading pulpits of Canada. This statement might be slightly overdrawn, but one thing must be admitted, viz., the people will endure no retrograde movement in this particular. Advance is the order of the day. He claimed that if any men require careful and prolonged study those men are Christian ministers. A great many persons think the only thing necessary to make a successful minister is a knowledge of personal salvation. He said however that while all those higher blessings that are so often referred to are highly necessary, in fact indisputable, it is also true that these men should have a comprehensive education. He ought to be able to read the Bible in its original tongue. He supposed every minister who does not know Greek and Hebrew has at some time in his experience felt the awkwardness of his ignorance. He said, too, that the Christian minister ought to be posted in all the sciences, for he is then in a position to confute those who take a stand antagonistic to Christianity. To whom shall we look for the defence of the doctrines of Christianity if not to its ministers? Our church has the policy of aiding her men to secure an education. She makes a loan to young men who go to college, and he claims it is no disgrace for a young man to accept aid from his church. He rallied the audience to the support of these funds, and closed his address with some remarks on the question of college graduation.

THURSDAY—MORNING SESSION.

VANCOUVER, May 22.—The Conference opened with devotional exercises at 9 o'clock.

The Conference arranged to receive the delegate of the W. M. S. (Rev. S. J. Thompson) at 8 o'clock this afternoon.

Rev. E. Robson gave notice of a motion that he will ask the Conference to alter its conference year so as to end on the 31st of December and hereafter the Conference sessions commence on the third Wednesday of June instead of May.

A resolution of the Victoria District, laid over to this Conference from last year, re "equal lay representation on all Conference committees," was referred to the committee on memorials.

Rev. J. E. Betts here rose and expressed the opinion that in view of the fact that the Duke of Connaught is passing through the city, this Conference take steps to express the loyalty of the Methodist body and of this Conference the the royal family and the British throne. The Conference decided to prepare an address for the minutes of the Conference and the public press.

At this hour the Conference adjourned till 2 o'clock, p. m., to attend the committees, to operate and report.

How Progressives Politics in the East—Mowat in Danger.

The Liberal split in North Essex is not healed. Cleary and Pacaud are still in the field, and the probability is Mowat will lose the seat to Sol. White. The Liberals are somewhat at variance, too, in South Renfrew, where the nomination of Dr. Dowling is distasteful to many. The Conservatives have similar trouble in Grenville, Cardwell and several other constitutencies. David Creighton's chances for re-election in North Grey are admittedly slim. Mercier in a speech at Quebec said: "Those who would deprive a large portion of the inhabitants of this country of the use of their language and their laws, although they will not succeed in doing so, may succeed at least in setting race against race and creed against creed. When Canadians shall have ceased these unnatural quarrels; when all are animated with the same national policy, then, and then only, may we hope to become a strong and independent nation. Such is the fundamental principle of the Quebec Government."

A GIVE-AWAY RAILWAY POLICY.

As the so-called railway policy of the ROBSON combination is under discussion, we have made a list showing the concessions made for railway purposes during the last seven years. We are satisfied that a perusal will convince the most sceptical that the course hitherto adopted has been a dead failure, except as to despoiling the people of their heritage.

The Canadian Pacific Railway Company recently claimed $25,000,000 damages from one of their engineers, who was sent to the Pacific Coast some years ago to report upon the land on the east coast of Vancouver Island, and who reported unfavorably.

The Hon. PETER MITCHELL, during the last Session at Ottawa, when referring to the grant made to the Esquimalt and Nanaimo Railway Company, said that the value of the land was beyond calculation, that it was a huge blunder.

We ask our readers what is the present value of the six thousand acres at Vancouver, which was given to the C. P. R. for extending their line thirteen miles.

THE ACT RELATING TO THE RAILWAY LANDS ASSENTED TO 19TH DECEMBER, 1883.

The SMITHE-ROBSON Administration gave the Dominion Government, without any consideration whatever, a solid block of land on the Mainland, 40 miles in width, extending from the Eastern boundary of the Province to Port Moody on Burrard Inlet, instead of alternate sections of land out of a belt 20 miles in width along the line of the railway, as agreed by the Terms of Union between British Columbia and Canada, and as conveyed to the Dominion by the WALKEM BEAVEN Government by the Act of 1880.

The SMITHE-ROBSON Government gave the Dominion three and a half million acres of land in one rectangular block in the Peace River District to make up what the Dominion called worthless land in the Railway Belt, but which is to-day valued highly by that Government as mineral land.

The following Railway Companies have been incorporated and grants of land and other concessions made to them; and we ask all thoughtful persons whether the Province could not better have retained the property and built the roads that have been constructed:

THE PREMIER IN THE INTERIOR.

When the Premier returned from his pilgrimage to the interior he unfolded a glowing tale of his reception, and the impression went abroad that the electors on the Columbia would support the Government as solidly as those of Cowichan would support the Attorney-General. Later intelligence, however, goes to show that "Honest JOHN's" reception was enthusiastic only in the sense of a unanimous and emphatic protest against one of his pet measures, the "Mineral bill." The Kootenay Star, than which any other paper in the Province save its parent the Sentinel would be more likely to set the statesman before the country in a humiliating light, reports fully the doings in Revelstoke during the Premier's sojourn, and in all the history of Premiers, from the day they first sprang into existence down to the present, none were ever compelled to eat their own legislation as was the Hon. JOHN ROBSON on this occasion. The account was published in yesterday's TIMES. The account would have been published sooner only that we had not taken the trouble to read it, not supposing that the Star would so fully and unequivocally advertise the Premier's unhappy plight. The Hon. JOHN ROBSON, and incidentally his twenty-one solid supporters, men who have grown gray in the Province, stand convicted of as flagrant a bit of legislative imbecility as ever fell to the lot of legislators. Their Mineral Act is a dead letter. The Premier before the miners admitting that "he had made a bad bargain," cut a not less pathetic figure than that of BACON, who, when caught in his crimes craved mercy as a "broken reed." But we cannot exult over the Premier's discomiture and humiliation. If it was confined to him alone we might, but it is not; twenty-one gentlemen, too much addicted to the game of thumbs up, are as deep in the mud as the Premier is in the mire. If legislators really reflect the intelligence of the electorate and conversely, then the electorate of this Province stand convicted of affording more fools in proportion to population than any other place on earth. The remarkable feature connected with the passage of the Mineral Bill, is that the representatives of mining districts voted for it. It seems incredible enough that the Premier, a resident of over thirty years in the Province, should permit such a bill to enter the House, but when we find it being gravely assented to by men grown gray either as miners or as persons closely identified with mining, we ask ourselves whether they must not be in their dotage, or, if not, what spell is it that they labor under that they give their thumbs a perpendicular attitude in all measures coming from the Government. "I am sorry, I see how it works, I take it all back," says the Premier, and forty-eight hours later he tells a Victoria audience that everything is lovely for the Government on the Columbia. What profound faith the miners of Kootenay must have in a Government which must go back on their own legislation before the ink is dry. How they must admire Colonel BAKER. With what feelings of profound veneration the Cariboo "prospector" must contemplate the Government automatons who have misrepresented them for several years past, and who propose to continue the same role for some years to come. One of the excuses offered by Interior constituencies for their support of the Government is, "We have no men to put in their place." Send chunks of quartz, gentlemen, send chunks of quartz. An inanimate chunk of gold, silver, galena and iron pyrites would represent you as eloquently as the vacuous members you have had of late years. A gibbering idiot could not represent you worse than you have been in the past.

A Warning.

MR. EDITOR.—It is a well-known fact that the majority of people are inclined to look upon a cold in the head as a matter of little importance—involving at the most only a temporary inconvenience. No more disastrous mistake was ever made. The neglected cold in the head is the source of the catarrhal affections with which about seven-tenths of the people of this country are afflicted, and catarrh itself is too often the preliminary stages to consumption and death. The symptoms of catarrh are manifold, but among them may be mentioned, offensive breath; dull, oppressive headache; offensive droppings from the nostrils into the throat and bronchial tubes; deafness or partial deafness; constant hawking and spitting; weak and watery eyes; a hacking cough and feeling of general debility; ringing in the ears and frequent dizziness. These are but a few of the more general symptoms, and those who experience them should lose no time in applying a remedy. Delays are proverbially dangerous, and in the case of this too prevalent disease may lead to death. We offer Nasal Balm to the public as a positive cure for cold in the head and for catarrh in all its forms and stages. Nasal Balm has been tested in thousands of cases, and the testimonials in our possession prove that it is all we claim for it. It has cured other sufferers, it will cure you. It is easy to use, pleasant and agreeable and does not require a douche, or any torturing instrument to apply it. Give it a trial and be convinced of its great efficacy. Sold by all dealers or sent post free on receipt of price 50c. for small or $1 for large size bottles by addressing Fulford & Co., Brockville, Ont. daw

Religion in England.

Liverpool Letter: Religion here is more a matter of social decorum than anything else. The working classes stand largely aloof from it, as they do all over industrial England. They are not hostile, but churches and chapels do not interest them. On Sundays you will see them lounging about at street corners or in public spaces, decently dressed, seldom given to rowdyism, but not thinking for a moment to go inside a church to hear "th' parson." From the generalization I must except the Catholic, who are mostly Irish, though with an English sprinkling, and who are devout and punctual at mass and who love the priest and the church. Talking with a Catholic priest the other night, who was showing me over his church and sacristy, he told me that the place was kept bright and clean and supplied with flowers by the voluntary action of the people, who did it when they left their day's toil in the mills.

A New Curative Agency.

It is reported that an old gentleman who had been dumb for ten years suddenly found his voice last week. He suffered from paralysis of the vocal cords, and his physician declared that it was a hopeful case; the disease had become incurable, and he would never speak again. On Wednesday morning, just as the sun was climbing the eastern hills and the pale moon sank behind the clouds in the west, he rose from his couch, thinking of the pleasant dreams he had enjoyed, and went toward the window to commune with nature. That man stepped on a tack. In an instant his paralysis was gone. The blood rushed into his face. There was no unwonted gleam in his eye. With a preliminary "Ouch!" he hopped to a neighboring chair, extracted the offending tack, which seemed loath to leave its hiding place, and then poured out his quivering soul in a prolonged volley of expletives.—N. Y. Herald.

Chit Chat.

United States Secretary Blaine, speaking of his Washington house lately, said: "We did not remodel it because we have no desire to have, as the boy said, 'Queen Anne at the front and Mary Ann at the back.'"

Is shorthand a desirable profession? The writer of a paper read at a meeting of the Pittsburgh Stenographers' Association argued that it was not. He said: "It was but machine work at the best, and that the pay was so meagre as to prevent any stenographer becoming rich." He added that, within a few years, the phonograph would take the place of the stenographer, and the profession would no longer be necessary.

THE SAILOR'S CONSOLATION.

One night came on a hurricane,
The sea was mountains rolling,
When Barney Buntline turn'd his quid,
And said to Billy Bowlins:
"A strong northwester's blowing, Bill,
Hark! don't you hear it roar now?
Lord help 'em, how I pities all
Unhappy folks on shore now!

"Foolhardy chaps who live in town,
What danger they are all in!
And now are quaking in their beds
For fear the roof should fall in!
Poor landsmen! how they envy us!
And wishes, I've a notion,
For our good luck, in such a storm,
To be upon the ocean.

"But as for them who've out all day
On business from their homes,
And late at night are coming home
To cheer their babes and spouses,
While you and I, Bill, on the deck
Are comfortably lying,
My eye! what lots and chimney pots
About their heads are flying!

"And very often have we heard
How men are killed and widows,
By overturns of carriages
By thieves and drays in London.
We know what risks all landsmen run,
From noblemen to tailors;
Then, Bill, let us thank Providence
That you and I are sailors."

—Old Song

The Prince of Naples.

The prince of Naples, the future king of Italy, if that country is destined to have another king, is described as a silent, cold and stoical young man, overburdened by a scientific and philosophical education. He is, moreover, a hard working soldier. He never smiles, and salutes rarely. It is needless to say that he is not popular. It may be that he has simply undertaken to ape Von Moltke. Two stories are already told of him which are supposed to give an indication of his character. When he was about 12 years old he had a somewhat violent quarrel with his cousins and other children belonging to the court. "You are lucky," said the youngster to them, with rage, "that I am not yet king. If I were I would have the heads of every one of you." When he was 16 years old he was present at some experiments with dynamite cartridges. One of the cartridges exploded, bespatted him with mud and wounded him slightly. An officer beside him was seriously hurt. The prince never budged and never moved a muscle, while the officers around him stood aghast. "What is the matter, gentlemen?" said he, in a scolding tone. "The explosion of a cartridge! That happens every day. Two men wounded. That is just what cartridges are made for. Let us help our comrade without any useless emotion!" And he aided in lifting the wounded officer into a carriage before he would permit any one to see his own wounds.—Chicago Herald.

How to Stop Bleeding.

Some persons have a tendency to bleed, no matter how slight the cause. A small cut, scratch or the extraction of a tooth will cause profuse bleeding, and sometimes endanger life. When from the latter cause, take a little powdered chalk, roll it up in lint in the form of a cork or plug, dip it in spirits of turpentine and press it firmly into the cavity. Change it every ten or fifteen minutes until the bleeding is stopped. Let the last plug remain in over night, and then do not pull it out, but wash the mouth in tepid water until it is loosened, using cold water after the first few mouthfuls. Bleeding from the nose is seldom serious, except in old persons. It is often good in children, if not too copious. If symptoms of faintness ensue let the person sit right up, bathe the face and neck with cold water, or dash cold water in the face, or better still, take a cloth or towel, dip in cold water and bandage the forehead and raise the arms as high as possible over the head or cross them firmly behind the back. This action has the effect of contracting the muscles of the neck and diminishing the rush of blood to the head. In very obstinate cases pinches of very finely powdered alum may be inhaled, or alum water snuffed up the nostrils. Plugging the nostrils should not be resorted to unless by a physician, for if not properly done, the blood, instead of being stopped, finds its way to the top of the throat and is swallowed.—Boston Transcript.

Rules for Old Age.

In reply to a correspondent's request for Dr. Richardson's "Rules for Old Age," we republish them as follows, although we don't indorse all of them: When old age has really commenced, its march toward final decay is best delayed by attention to those rules of conservation by which life is sustained with the least friction and the least waste. The prime rules for this purpose are: To subsist on light but nutritious diet, with milk as the standard food, but varied according to season. To take food, in moderate quantity, four times in the day, including a light meal before going to bed. To clothe warmly but lightly, so that the body may, in all seasons, maintain its equal temperature. To keep the body in fair exercise, and the mind active and cheerful. To maintain an interest in what is going on in the world, and to take part in reasonable labors and pleasures, as though old age was not present. To take plenty of sleep during sleeping hours. To spend nine hours in bed at least, and to take care during cold weather that the temperature of the bedroom is maintained at 60 degs. Fah. To avoid passion, excitement and luxury.—Herald of Health.

From Father to Son.

Offices are not generally hereditary in this country, but one almost appeared to be in a case mentioned by the Brunswick (Me.) Telegraph. In speaking of Mrs. Susan Curtis, the widow of a Revolutionary soldier, who now lives in Topsham, at the age of 97 years, the Telegraph remarks that Mrs. Curtis was the third wife of Caleb Curtis. John Merrill, Esq., of Topsham, performed the ceremonies at Mr. Curtis' first marriage, soon after the close of the Revolutionary war. Col. Abel Merrill, his son, married Curtis to his second wife, early in the present century, and the late Octavius Merrill, Esq., grandson of John Merrill, Esq., married Curtis to the present Mrs. Curtis.

BEHRING SEA PIRACY.

Cutter Bear Leaves To-Day on the Filibustering Expedition.

It was expected that the U. S. revenue cutter would sail from Seattle to-day. The captain states that she will first go to Unalaska and then cruise in Behring Sea to guard against violation of the statutes on sealing matters. The instructions will not differ materially from last year's except that they are more specific. Efforts will be made to avoid a repetition of last year's experience with the "one man prize crew." The Bear will, according to the present instructions, dismantle and deprive vessels of all further means of violation, as well as to seize all skins and vessels' logs.

THE CELEBRATION.

The Sports on Thursday Afternoon—Friday Forenoon's Races—The Winners, etc.

Following is the result of yesterday afternoon's athletic sports which we were unable to publish on account of the lateness of the hour at which they were concluded:

One hundred yard race—A. Angus 1st and W. W. Weedie 2nd.

Running long jump—A. Bell, 17 ft 9 in; M. Fisher, 17 ft 4 in; W. E. Harrison, 16 ft 11 in; E. Harrison, 16 ft 6 in.

Half mile race—Tom Watson 1st, E. Harrison 2nd.

Running long jump—Bell 1st, Brimstone 2nd.

Boys race, under 12 years—A. Finlayson 1st, A. Ross 2nd, H. Dwyer 3rd.

Hop step and jump—W. E. Harrison, 41 ft 8 in; A. Bell, 38 ft 2 in.

Indian race—Pats (Cowichan) 1st, Sam (Kokesilah) 2nd, Tom (Saanich) 3rd.

Quarter mile race—Tom Watson 1st, Gillies 2nd.

Naval and military race was won by Sergt. Kilpatrick.

Hurdle race—H. Fisher 1st, T. Watson 2nd.

Sack race—This race as usual caused a good deal of amusement and was won by F. LeRoy.

Tug-of-war—(civilians vs. soldiers and sailors)—was won by the latter.

The members of the Victoria Athletic Club then took the ring, giving a very novel and well-performed entertainment. The horizontal bar performance by Messrs. F. Gouge, Jos. Weiler, Jos. Wenger and J. Fisher was very creditable. William Braden gave a very unique performance, twisting himself in all shapes. Jos. Weiler on the slack wire was the same old Joe, keeping up his reputation as a good wire walker. Gouge and Wenger gave a performance on the vaulting horse, and Messrs. Oliver, Bowles, Gouge, Calwell and Marsh gave an exhibition of tumbling.

HERRINGS.

To the Editor—Having been in your city a short time I would like to know why we get such small herrings. Being a lover of green and smoked herrings I would like you to let me know what is the size of the herring net mesh used for catching herrings in these seas. I am afraid that the fishermen are using a net with the mesh too small to take large herrings. You, or any one, can understand that this is a suicidal policy; firstly, because the public prefer large fish, and secondly, a small mesh net will kill, but not catch, large full herrings. A small mesh simply catches a large herring by its nose and not by its gill-corers, and therefore the herring so meshed and killed are held so slightly that when dead they drop out of the meshes with the mere motion of the sea, or the hauling in of the net and are lost to the fishermen. I deprecate, therefore, the policy which causes such loss, because if the public were supplied with an article more suited to their tastes the fishermen would get the benefit. Not only the fishermen but you would find men in your city that would build curing houses and work up a large business as a fish factor. What herring I have bought are better in quality than the herring taken on the east coast of England, and could be cured in just the same way if they were larger. At the size they are taking now they would be worthless to smoke or pickle. I am of opinion that the mesh should be one inch from knot to knot. That is a just and proper size. Such a mesh has caught and will continue to catch large herrings, and those of ordinary size, while it has permitted and would continue to permit, young or small herrings to escape. I think the time is come when parliamentary members should move in the matter. If larger mesh nets are not used you may say good-bye to large fish.

A Well Wisher.

CHAS. WILSON.

To the Editor: As an independent supporter of the Government, I can scarcely class Mr. Chas. Wilson as a mugwump. He constitutes a sort of fifth wheel to the Government wagon and in estimating his value as this variety of appurtenance, one will find himself at a loss. It is pretty safe to say, however, that in so far as the Government is concerned, Mr. Wilson is wholly superfluous, is in fact a decidedly uncomfortable addition to the Government vehicle. When a wagon is intended for four wheels only, the addition of a fifth somehow mars the utility of the whole. Mr. Davie thinks so, at all events, but professes to derive comfort from the fact that the Opposition will be as badly inconvenienced as the Government. Cold comfort this to the machine which violated its own laws for guidance. Mr. Wilson elected, if meaning the defeat of an Opposition candidate, at least augurs that the game of "thumbs up" is becoming unfashionable, and a man of this kind is what is wanted in the House. If defeat awaits any one of the Opposition, let him be defeated by a lawyer, and a man, who without posing as a champion of labor, practically condemns the lien law, and who, while favoring railways, can find other means of encouraging them than by granting them a royalty on minerals. It was noticeable that the Attorney-General, in attempting to demonstrate the superfluousness of the fifth wheel in the Government wagon, had nothing to say about the Aid to Railways Act. He couldn't, in fact. The royalty clause, having nothing in it to recommend it, had to be left severely alone. Theodore only attempted to show that Mr. Wilson was a sorehead, and he failed miserably at that. Mr. Wilson stands before the people the result of Government trickery. A lively Nemises he is. There is woe in the Government camp.

An Independent.

THE CONSPIRACY TO CAPTURE LOWER CALIFORNIA.

The Preparation Made by the U. S. Government to Checkmate the Scheme.

New York, May 23.—The Herald's Washington special says: A report from San Francisco and Los Angeles to-day, about a filibustering expedition for the capture of Lower California, attracted little attention, because, first, it early became known that the Government had known of the scheme and provided against it with great promptitude and vigor several days ago, and second, because the high sounding titles which the leaders were reported to have given themselves made the scheme ridiculous. How the Government got wind of the plot before the press is not known, but last Saturday at the request of Secretary Blaine, who seems to have been remarkably well informed, the Secretary of war ordered the commander of troops, stationed at San Diego and in that neighborhood to so dispose of his command as to intercept and capture all persons or organizations attempting to violate the neutrality law by a demonstration against the Mexico peninsula and use his utmost vigilance in the matter. At the same time the new cruiser Charleston was ordered to go to sea and to cruise along the coast peninsula to prevent any filibustering operation by sea. The Herald's despatch from San Francisco printed this morning said: "The U. S. steamer Charleston left San Francisco to-day under sealed orders, her ostensibly destination being Honolulu. Her real orders are as stated above."

The Attorney-General has also given orders to subordinates and agents in California to be on the watch and bring to punishment all filibusterers. It is known here that at Ensenada in Lower California, a Mexican troop of about 2,000 soldiers is stationed under the command of an energetic colonel, and besides these there is a considerable squad of mounted police. The Mexican man-of-war, the Democrat, lies in the harbor, and Governor Torres is a man of energy, who would act promptly against filibusters.

It is stated in San Francisco dispatches that the lobby has been at work here all winter to secure the acquisition of Lower California. This is true. The lobby is very well known. It consists three men, who are Redmond, Mr. Price of New Jersey, and Mr. Parton of New Mexico, and it was said of the three, by gentlemen who know them well, that a joint note of all three for $10 would not be accepted by any bank in the city.

Political Notes.

An influential meeting of electors was held at Cedar Hill school house on Wednesday night for the purpose of selecting a candidate to represent the interests of the southern end of the district. Ex-Mayor Carey was selected to contest the district in opposition to the Government.

A Steam Laundry.

Mr. R. B. May, representing Z. T. Wright & Co. of Portland, Ore., arrived in Victoria last night to attend to the setting up of the machinery for the new steam laundry to be soon started on Fort street. The machinery has also arrived and will be put in position as rapidly as possible, after which housekeepers will not be dependent on the heathen Chinee for clothes cleaning.

Queen Birthday Weather.

Although it looked like rain this morning, and indeed a few drops did fall, it cleared away at 10 o'clock, and the sun burst forth from the clouds, his brilliancy enhanced from the previous shrouding. The vegetation all around looks fresh and beautiful, and Victoria never looked better than she does to-day. Everything gives promise of lovely weather to-morrow, and the crowds of visitors will enjoy themselves well.

Not Bribery.

In his Vancouver speech to the electors Hon. John Robson is reported as having said, "unless you send members pledged to support my administration, they cannot be admitted to caucus. In the secret caucus, not in the open deliberations of the Legislature, all the real work is done. The debates which the people read so eagerly are mere froth, designed to flatter the vanity of the representative and tickle the importance of his constituents."

This is not bribery—oh, no.

P. O. Irregularities.

P. O. Inspector Fletcher requests that when any irregularity occurs in respect to the delivery of letters, that the particulars be communicated to him, either personally or by letter, when he will cause an investigation to be made. From our knowledge of the management of postal affairs in the city and province, we know that the inspector is always anxious to get to the bottom of every complaint, and to rectify any error, whether on the part of the letter writer or post-office, that may have occurred.

Commercial Travelers.

A special meeting of the Commercial Travellers Association of Canada was held last evening at their rooms Bastion Square, Mr. Gus Leiser in the chair, Harry Agathraith, acting as secretary in the absence of Mr. Ben Gordon. It was called to nominate a director in the stead of Mr. W. L. Cusack. Mr. Gus Leiser was the unanimous choice of the meeting and was elected without opposition. Feeling references were made to Mr. Cusack's death by several of the members, particularly Sir J. C. Marshall, who spoke of his faithfulness and sterling qualities. The Association is making headway steadily in this Province.

Tacoma's Grievance.

The British bark Earl of Derby has just finished loading a cargo of flour at Tacoma. The flour was manufactured in the mills at Tacoma, owned by a Portland company, but on every sack were the words, "Patent roller flour, manufactured by the Portland Flouring Mills, Portland, Oregon." No mention whatever, was made of Tacoma and the Tacomalites are correspondingly indignant, the Ledger writing a severe editorial on the matter.

A BIG CELEBRATION.

A Large Number of Visitors in Town—More Coming.

The second of three days celebration proposed by the citizens of Victoria opened auspiciously with bright sunshine. The earth at the same time being fanned by the soft south wind of the semi-tropics. The city, as she is wont on such occasions presented a gay holiday appearance. Added to her wealth of flowers and foliage a thousand streamers flung to the breeze and gave the beautiful Queen City of the West a genuine gala appearance. The number of visitors in the city is large. Last evening's steamers from the Sound brought large passenger lists as well as the boats from the Mainland, and it is expected that the consignments this evening will be much larger. The great concern of the reception committee is to find sleeping accommodation for all who come. Among those expected this evening are three or four hundred from Fairhaven.

The sports provided for the entertainment of the visitors are being well carried out. In number and variety they are all that could be desired. The base ball matches only were a trifle slow, owing to the teams being unevenly matched, but the lacrosse match tomorrow will likely be a hard one, and the rowing and horse racing will also be good.

A Commendable Enterprise.

This Dominion Illustrated, a little giant of Canadian enterprise has steadily and successfully across the Canadas, and winning golden opinions and establishing itself firmly everywhere, till now it has reached Victoria through the person of Mr. J. H. Brownlee, who after a few days in the city decided on devoting an entire issue of the paper to this fair city, feeling sure that it and its environments offer more physical inducements to picturesque journalism than any place in Canada, that he has visited. In the special number referred to, Victoria's present facilities will be graphically depicted and illustrated, including the sailing fleet from the outer wharf today, the boat racing, athletic sports and the regatta at the Gorge on the Queen's birthday. All these pictures, together with six successful photographs of the royal party, and a series of Victoria landscapes cannot fail to make a Victoria souvenier number of the Dominion Illustrated that will do credit to this city and to Canadian enterprises, at the same time keeping alive the interest that is just now awaking in the East regarding the vast and varied resources of this much favored place.

Mr. Brownlee is well and widely known as a clever publisher (and what is quite as important, a successful one), all over the Canadian prairies and the Rockies to the Pacific coast; so that the task of making British Columbia and Victoria better known the Eastern Canada, is in thoroughly able and energetic hands.

A DINNER TABLE TALK.

MR. SCRIBBLE PURSUES HIS STUDY OF B. C. POLITICS.

The Man on the Left Tells Him About the the Schools and the System of Coercive Management Introduced by the Government—The School Mistress.

"The Government," resumed the party on the left," includes the management of the public schools in the exercise of its indiscriminate paternalism. Of course, in your country, the State has the management of the public school system, but its relations thereto are indirect, whereas, in the case of our Government, the relations are direct. In your country, when anything goes wrong with the public schools, the State Superintendent of Public Instruction is held responsible. Owing his office to the suffrages of the people he alone is responsible to the people. Mal-practices on his part in no sense affects the other Departments of State. In this country, however, the Superintendent of Education is an appointee of the Government, and the Government, of course, is held responsible for the action of their agent. In your country, if the Superintendent of Public Instruction proves a poor stick, the electorate have only themselves to blame; in this country in the event of the Superintent of Education proving worthless, the Government must bear the odium. Besides, the situation is further complicated from the fact that the Premier exercises a paramount influence in educational affairs. Besides the Premiership he is saddled with the pompus title of Minister of Education. The Superintendent of Education, consequently, is but his flunkey, and any reflection on the former necessarily extends to the latter. Thus, while in your country any criticism of the public schools only affects the Superintendent of Public Instruction, in this country the Premier himself is scandalized, and inferentially the whole cabinet. Naturally, where we have a situation so complex, a situation in which the head of the Government is responsible to the people for the action of his subordinates, and who in the event of his educational policy not corresponding with the wishes of the people (or I should say the House) must retire from business, there could be but one result, and that is, that honest criticism is treated as the consequence of factiousness, and outspoken school teachers as impudent varlets. Reduced to its lowest term under our form of Government, the school teacher is not in the employ of the people as is popularly supposed, but rather, is in the employ of the Government. If he criticises his criticism is treated not as a criticism of the school system but as a criticism of the Government. He must be careful, therefore, that his criticisms are in no sense hostile, in no sense differ from the governmental idea, else it is high treason and off goes his head. Not high treason against the people, you will understand, (for in this matter we have to draw some fine distinctions) but high treason against the Government, against the coterie whom the people from some mistaken notion of public utility have vested with the governing power."

"Ah yes," interjected Mr. Scribble, "I see. Your Government, though owing their existence to the people and ostensibly for the benefit of the people, nevertheless, undertake to operate independent of the people."

"That about expresses it," said the party on the left, with this qualification "that as they are liable to be bounced by the people, they must be careful and strangle criticism in its infancy. You see, let me reiterate, that in your country, in the event of differences of opinion between the people and the Department of Education only the Department of Education would be swept aside. Here, however, in the event of such a contingency the entire Government would be relegated to private life. You see, then the importance of keeping the school teachers muzzled. You now fully apprehend the cause of the school mistresses diffidence."

"I should think, said Mr. Scribble, commiseratingly, "that the School mistress would find it a difficult matter to hold her tongue."

"Why so," inquired the party on the left.

"She's a woman," answered Mr. Scribble, briefly.

"Oh," exclaimed the party on the left, "I had not thought of that."

"Poor thing," soliliquised Mr. Scribble. "Somehow," he continued, lowering his voice so that nobody but the party on the left could hear, "somehow I had got it into my head that her diffidence was owing to her having a Law Clerk for a sweetheart. It struck me that his magnificent presence had quite played the dence with her perspicuity. But it is all clear now. I was mistaken and I am glad of it."

"Yes," replied the party on the left, "our School Mistress is not the one to lose her equanimity over a Law Clerk. His attentions are delightful to her, the blessed realization of a long felt want, still she contrives to carry a demeanor which seems to imply that she regards them merely the normal factors in the order of things which she may legitimately lay hold of in the grand consummation of eventual domesticity. She is here, a golden opportunity to the party who hankers for the materialization of loves young dream, yet for all, as familiar with the mutations of a young man's fancy, as she is profoundly acquainted with the eccentricities of the Department of Education, she values his attentions much as she does a temporary certificate."

"Would you have me to understand," exclaimed Mr. Scribble, "that the Law Clerk's attentions like the Constitution Act are partial?"

"Oh no," answered the party on the left. "He is anxious enough to represent this particular constituency for all time, but the constituency, prudent and proud, does not forget that she may be abandoned, which possible event deters her from telegraphing him in advance of his election by acclamation. However we need not discuss her policy in the matter. It is something like the Government's, imponderable, nebulous, without form and void, everything depending on how the cat will jump. As things stand she will issue him a temporary certificate only. She is determined to be on the safe side, to treat him as gingerly as the Premier did redistribution at Kamloops. But when he shall have given the word, announced himself solid, then will she cleave into with the tenacity of an itinerant politician to a new found constituency."

"In the States," remarked Mr. Scribble, tired of these comparisons, "we have Teachers' Institutes where the problem of teaching the young idea how to shoot is freely and fully discussed."

"So do we have them here," said the party on the left, "but they are useful only as furnishing laborious essays on how the Government shoots. No opinions are read that have not first received the sanction of the Government. Any opinion not in accord with the preconceived notions of the Government is assumed by them to have all the force of a vote of want of confidence, and the presumptous pedagogue is fired."

"Do not the School Trustees have something to say about that?" inquired Mr. Scribble.

"Nominally, yes, practically, no," answered the party on the left. "In order to choke off contumacious school teachers, and to render nugatory any opposition of the School Trustees, the Premier wheedled the House into passing section nine of the School Act, a clause which makes it possible for him to decapitate a pedagogue for cause. You see he cannot discharge a teacher out and out, nor can he prevent the Trustees from hiring one of whom he disapproves, but in the event of the trustees doing so, he may under the operation of section nine cancel the teacher's certificate which disqualifies him for teaching. Under the operation of section nine the school trusteeship might as well be abolished. The clause takes from the trustee every vestige of power."

"The Premier's power, then," said Mr. Scribble, "is limited only by his inclinations."

"That is it," assented the party on the left.

"What was the House thinking of to give one man such a palpable cinch," asked Mr. Scribble.

"That question has been asked before," returned the party on the left. "The only answer I can give you is, that the House never thinks."

"Would it be impertinent for me to ask what you have a House for," said Mr. Scribble.

"Merely for the purpose of making the people believe that they are being governed according to constitutional principles," explained the party on the left."

"But," suggested Mr. Scribble, "I should think the people would discover the fraud."

"The people are discovering it," said the party on the left. "Already as you have been told, the Attorney-General has sought another constituency, while of the supporters of the Government in the House they are pleading with the electorate for their lives. Two newspapers hitherto strong supporters of the Government have struck out for themselves, and on the whole there is a probability of the Government majority in the House being so reduced as to compel the formulation of a policy which in the event of any benefits accruing the entire Province will participate."

"But what should be the policy of the Government," inquired Mr. Scribble.

"The policy of the Government, replied the party on the left, "should be as broad as the universe, that is to say, it should comprehend other than the mere administration of local affairs. We cannot prosper within ourselves as we shoud prosper. As we are now circumstanced there are limitations to our prosperity. We consume products which we do not produce, and we have products to sell which we cannot wholly assimilate with profit to the producer. We have more coal, more iron, more lumber, more fish and more granite than we know what to do with, while on the other hand the consumption of food and clothing, agricultural and mining implements, exceed our powers of production. We pay duty on imports to the tune of half a million dollars yearly, which, as you may suppose, is a drain on a population of 50,000, comprising men, women and children. Our position is in a word, that we are compelled to purchase the greater proportion of the necessities of life from foreigners, without being able to pass beyond a certain point in the development of our natural resources. The States take from us only the excess of the demand over the home supply. That difference in point of volume is almost stationary, and so must the coal industry remain stationary, for we cannot develop our coal mines faster than we can sell the coal. Development increases only in proportion that trade increases. In the matter of canned salmon we find a market in England. Our natural market is the States. We should also find sale for our lumber, and granite in the States. What we want is reciprocity, but if we can't get that we want free trade. With free trade we should be able to sell just as much as at present, with the advantage, besides, of having the cost of living reduced 20 per cent. Reciprocity, however, would suit us better because it would stimulate the development of our own industries. Hence, as I have just said, the policy of the Government should be as broad as the universe, should comprehend other than the mere administration of local affairs. Indeed, it may be said, that any other policy is no policy at all."

"But does not the Government take these things into consideration," inquired Mr. Scribble.

"Undoubtedly," replied the party on the left," the Government have cogitated over them in their dull, unreasoning way, but that is all. Whatever may be the private feelings of the Government they never have undertaken to give Reciprocity a status outside of James Bay. The Government, in fact, consorts and votes for men who are pledged to National Policy. A strictly progressive Government, besides having a deep interest in wagon roads and bridges, and other improvements calculated to bribe the support of the electorate, would lay stress on the fact that foreign trade was inseparable from Provincial prosperity, and in conformance with this doctrine refuse to consort with National Policyists. The influence of the Government thrown on the side of the free traders, the Tory element would have no other amusement than the rearranging of the moss on their backs. But it is all toady. As was said by a prominent divine not many Sundays ago; if a Prince should talk through his nose the pauper would endeavor to imitate him. Just so with the Government. The bloods are all mossbacks, and the Government responsive to the toady instinct, are doing their best to cultivate a similar growth on their backs. Last summer the Board of Trade, an influential body, declared for freer trade relations. Later in the season an M. P. had to be elected to the Dominion House, and how do you think they voted?

"They certainly did not stultify themselves by voting for a protectionist," said Mr. Scribble.

"That is just exactly what they did do," returned the party on the left. "Their prejudices got the better of their judgment. It is a singular fact that notwithstanding the attitude of our business men in relation to Free Trade, the British Columbia delegation at Ottawa voted solid for National Policy. In this Province, in the great great conflict between common sense and prejudice, the latter has come off victor every time."

"How long do you expect this condition of affairs to last," inquired Mr. Scribble.

"Not until the rising generation are old enough to vote will there be any change of consequence. The old residenters for the most part will all die in their sins. There is just this about it, continued the man on the left, the Government may wrestle with the problem of immigration, but unless they can arrange it so that immigrants shall have a market for their produce, they had as well abandon the problem as insoluble. Thousands of immigrants visit this Province every year seeking employment and business openings; they eventually fetch up in the States. Our land is owned in large blocks, no provision has been made for irrigation the Government really has paid no more attention to internal development than they have to outside trade relations. Clearly, under the circumstances, there seems to be no good reason why the present regime should not be relegated to private life."

NAUTICAL NOTES.

Items of Interest Along the Water Front—General Marine News.

The steamer Boscowitz will leave for the North on Wednesday evening next at 7 o'clock.

The British bark Earl of Derby has completed her cargo of 42,000 sacks, or 16,000 barrels, of flour at the Portland Flouring Mill Company's dock at Tacoma, and has sailed for England.

The steamer Islander made the trip to Vancouver yesterday morning in four hours. This is nearly twenty miles an hour, and the Olympian would have to hustle to beat it. Engineer Shanks can make the machinery under his charge "move a bit" when necessary.

The steamer Karluk which has arrived at Frisco from Kodiak, Alaska, brings information that the bark Corea, Captain Wheeler, has gone ashore at Cook's Inlet, and, with her large cargo, was a total loss. No lives were lost. The bark left Frisco carrying supplies for salmon canneries on March 27. The vessel was owned by the Arctic packing company, and was valued at $15,000. The cargo was valued at $45,000. Both vessel and cargo were insured.

Torpedo Practice.

The appearance of a torpedo boat manœuvering off Beacon Hill this morning attracted the crowd from the base ball game to have a look at the dangerous little craft of warfare. She steamed up and down past the city two or three times, and after a time dropped a marine mine just off Brotchie Ledge buoy. The fast little steamer was far out of reach before the explosion, which threw columns of water into the air, came off.

A Correction.

An item of yesterday gave C Battery the credit of setting off a lot of rockets in honor of the Duke of Connaught. The information was incorrect, as the display was made by Messrs. Archie. McTavish and H. D. Helmcken. In connection with this explanation it is in order to state that the two gentlemen, who are loyal to the core, intend to-morrow evening to give a display of fireworks on James Bay in honor of the Queen. Although the display will be paid paid for by themselves, it will be an elaborate and splendid affair.
